Special Dispatch to The Constitution

WASHINGTON, May 22.-In reply to questions touching his relations to the coming canvass for governor of Georgia, Mr. Stephens has consented to the publication of the mailed to-night: Washington, hotel. D. C., 22d May, 1882.-Mr. Charles E. Smith, Washington, Ga.—Dear Mr. Smith:

Your letter of the 19th inst. is before me. I reply to your inquiry about my position in reply to your inquiry about my position in relation to the governorship of Georgia. I can only say briefly that the reported interviews with me on this subject as published.

In his previous instructions Mr. Lowell had views with me on this subject as published in The Atlanta Constitution are substantially correct. In reply to letters from all parts of the state, and from men attached to all political parties, urging me to forego my intention to retire from public life at the close of my present congressional term and consent. that if my health continues as good as it has been during the past winter, and if unmistakable evidences should be furnished me that it is the will of the people of Georgia that I should serve them I know of no reason that would justify me in refusing so to do. Thus the matter rests at present, so far as I am concerned. When asked the question whether I would allow my asked the question whether I would allow my asked the to draw money had been given him in the case of need in order that persons released might have the means to reach their name to be used in connection with this office, at the next election, against the nomination of another person by the democratic state converted to the next state converted to the person of the nomination of another person by the democratic state converted to the next state converted to the case of need in order that persons released might have the means to reach their dothis, but that it could not authorize money to be offered to induce persons to be used in connection with this case of need in order that persons released might have the means to reach their domestic that the case of need in order that persons released might have the means to reach their domestic that the government could properly do this, but that it could not authorize money to be offered to induce persons rename to be used in connection with this office, at the next election, against the nomination of another person by the democratic state convention, to assemble on the 19th of July next, my uniform answer has been: "I would not." This action of the democratic party would with ane, be the controlling evidence that it is not the will of a majority of the will of a majority of the four persons would not accept the release the will of a majority of the people of Georgia that I should serve them should come, notwithstanding the numerous letters I have received from men of the greatest eminence in the state, and the many petitions embracing hundreds of people in different counties to which I have referred, and the recommendation of my name to be voted for as governor by the people of Georgia, by the highly respectable body of men who recently assembled at Atlanta, and whose good opinions and confidence I appreciate in no small degree. I deem it proper in this connection to add that, while my political affiliation is entirely with the democracy on princing the to Minister West, which was handed to the secretary by Mr. West under instructions, and also a copy of an instruction from this department to Mr. Lowell, attended to the secretary by Mr. West under instructions, and also a copy of an instruction from the construction from this department to Mr. Lowell, attended to the secretary of state encloses a copy of an instruction from Lowel Lowell and the research to the closes a copy of an instruction from the company to get in the construction from this department to Mr. Lowell, attended to the secretary of state encloses a copy of an instruction from Lowel Lowell and the construction from the company to get in the letter of instructions, and also a copy of an instruction from Lowel Lowell and the construction from the company to get in the company to get in the letter of instruction from Lowell and the construction from Lowell in the company to the latest action from this department to Mr. Lowell, at the company to get in the company to get in the company to the c uld come, notwithstanding the numerous opinions and confidence I appreciate in no small degree. I deem it proper in this connection to add that, while my political affiliation is entirely with the democracy on principles and measures; and if in either it has erred, sitch errors should be corrected within rather than without its ranks, yet if I were nominated by the democracy and elected governor of Georgia by the people, I should not strength of an enlistment, in the United rather than without its ranks, yet if I were nominated by the democracy and elected gov-ernor of Georgia by the people, I should not be a partisan governor, but should look to the best interests and welfare of the state by pro-tecting the rights of all classes of society which should be the chief object of all govwhich should be the chief object of all government. The principles perpetuated in the motto of the grand old state, "Wisdom, justice and moderation," would be the guide of my administration. Since writing the above I have seen a telegram dated the 15th inst. Irom Atlanta, Ga., to the Chicago Tribune, published in the Augusta Chronicle and Constitutionalist of the 20th inst., stating that I had telegraphed to the Atlanta convention of stitutionalist of the 20th inst., stating that I had telegraphed to the Atlanta convention of independents that I would accept their nomination for governor. It is utterly untrue that I ever sent tany such a telegram or authorized it being sent by anybody. Yours,

Washington, May 22.—Soon after the house met this morning an attempt was made to take up the Mackey-Dibble election cases. Filibustering on the part of the democrats was at once resorted to. Mr. Calkins had called up the contest as a privileged question. Mr. Randall antagonized it with the call of states and subsequently with Monday's special order for business. The several notes taken showed no quorum, while a call of the house showed 223 members present. The doors were then closed and the sergent. The doors were then closed and the sergent. Finally the house at 4:40 adjourned, having accomplished pothing.

AMERICANS IN IRELAND.

The Brevet Prisoners and the Government-The Cor-Washington, May 22.—The president this afternoon sent to the house of representa-

On the 19th of April Mr. Lowell cabled that he had received names of four persons still in prison, who were understood to be Americans. These were O'Mahoney, McSweeney, McInery and Slattery. The minister stated that two others named Brophy and Gannon, of whom he had not before heard, had asked him to intervene. On the 20th of Aprila further cable was received from Mr. Lowell on the same subject, and on the 21st of the same month, he cabled that the Irish secretary tives a report from the secretary of state, and month, he cabled that the Irish secretary my present congressional term, and consent to accept the office of governor, I have stated release and his promise to return. He had put his naturalization paper in his pocket and returned to his Irish domicil with every apparent pur-pose of remaining there. The case of Mc-Sweeny was almost exactly similar, McSweeny having been naturalized in San Francisco and returned to Ireland where he became a citizen and officeholder. In these cases, assuming that the naturalization was within the letter of the law, the president is of the opinion that it was only just within the letter, and that is was wholly outside of the spirit and intent of the naturalization laws.

ARTHUR A KNOW NOTHING.

Revival of the Old Order in Texas at the Instigu Dallas, Tex., May 22.—A full expose of a secret political order is made by the Times to-day, called the American knights of honor, not legion of honor. Its officers are local re-publican leaders. It is an anti Catholic so-ciety and something after the style of the old know nothing party of a quarter of a century ago. William Jesse Grant, formerly a Meth-odist minister at East St. Louis, Illinois, and about a year ago editor of the short-lived re-publican daily, the Gazette of Dallas, and who is a cousin of General Grant, returned from Washington about three months ago, where the national parentage of the order is located, with authority to organize subordinate lodges in Texas. The Dallas lodge has over one hundred members, and one of them has given the whole thing away, even to telling the part the society took in the last city election against the democratic candidates of the Catholic faith, one of whom, Robert Ogden, was defeated for alder-man from the third ward. Every man joining is led to believe that the order has charitable merits and objects, but is sworn to the most rigid secrecy before initiation. A local repub-lican leader of state notoriety, Fred Cullen, who has been absent several weeks, is said to be off on a mission organizing lodges in vari-ous parts of the state. It leaks out that Presi-dent Arthur is a member of the Washington organization, and advised organizing exas, as it would draw largely ship from Protestant democrats, and at least keep the members on account of their sworn obligations from voting at all if they would not vote for the candidate determined on by the order. The exposure is perfectly reliable on all points above cited.

VANDALISM IN COLUMBIA.

The Jewish Cemetery Deservated and Many Tombi Destroyed. Destroyed.

Special Dispatch to The Constitution.

Columbia, S. C., May 22.—The residents of this city are very much excited and highly indignant on account of the desecration of the Jewish cemetery. The situation is in the corporate limits of Columbia. This afternoon a merchant, who had been arranging for the interment of an infant, went to the Jewish burying ground to select a grave. Upon eninterment of an infant, went to the Jewish burying ground to select a grave. Upon entering the inclosure, which is surrounded by high and strong walls, he was horrified to see that the holy place had been desecrated by miscreants. Twenty tombs were demolished, and fragments of broken marble are strewn about the ground. Some of the mausoleums contained the bones of old and respectable citizens who had helped to build Columbia, and were sacked and the ornamental work broken and defaced. No reason can be given for the piece of vandalism, because the spirit of Jewish persecution has never shown itself here, and the Jews of Columbia are proverbially a quiet, law-abiding and inoffensive people. The municipal authorities are taking vigorous measures to ferret out the perpetrators of the vile deed.

to-day, Mr. Gladstone, replying to Patrick Martin, member for the country of Kilnenny, stated that he had seen the resolution of the Irish judges against the suppression of trial by jury, but he was bound to say that the government had carefully considered the matter before the resolution was formed, and that the repression bill contains deliberate conclusions. their Trevylan, chief secretary for Ireland, replying to Mr. Redmond, member for New Ross, said that O'Mahonev, a suspect, is not an American citizen, and has not been prevented from writing to Mr. Lowell, the United States minister. The government, he declared, have not offered O'Mahoney, or any American citizens, money to quit the country. Mr. Parnell gave notice that he would move to-morrow that Gladstone's resolution in regard to the repression bill shall also apply to the arrears bill. Mr. Gladstone then moved the second reading of the arrears bill. The house was very crowded when he made his motion. Mr. Gladstone said it is impossible to compre. Gladstone said it is impossible to compel people to borrow, therefore the money sup-plied by the government must be a gift. He stated that there are five hundred and eighty-five thousand tenants in Ireland paying under thirty pounds rent (Griffith's valuation) and of these two hundred thousand are excluded from the benefits of the land act by being in afters. This, he said, must be remedied. He admitted that the proposal was extraordinary, but so was the state of Ireland. Mr. Schlater Booth, conservative, moved an amend-ment declaring it is inexpedi-ent to charge the consolidated fund with any payment for arrears except in the form of a loan. He described the government's plan as communistic and demoralizing. He said it was an evil precedent, and most objectionable in view of the Scotch and Engish farmers, who suffered as much as the Irish farmers.

Terrified at the result of his fury. George, leaving the wounded man in the field, hastened homeward and securing a horse fled, going, it is said, towards Texas. His victim was discovered shortly after and taken home. Medical aid failed, he dying 24 hours after he was shot. He begged piteously that his slayer should be spared. "Don't let them hang George if I die," he said to his attendants, "because he was angry and did let them hang George if I die," he said to his attendants, "because he was angry and did not know what he was doing." But though a great sinner in this way, his iniquities did not rest here. His great strength is in the so-called "indemnity party," of which he is the head and organizer. Its main features were to force the payment from the white people for the time and labor of all slaves held by them before the war, to bring about social rights, time and labor of all slaves held by them before the war, to bring about social rights, the distribution of property, etc. To this end, the harshest measures were proposed. Regular lodges were organized, with grips, passwords, signals, oaths, etc., and one thousand men have already been enrolled in the organization in Lee county alone. Several days since Niles, who, it seems, has driven a small mercantile business at his headquarters near Baily, with money obtained from the dupes, was arrested upon a tained from the dupes, was arrested upon a complaint of a colored justice of the peace, for selling whisky without a license. He was for selling whisky without a license. He was conveyed to Marianna, the county seat, and indicted by the grand jury of the circuit court. Also for minor other offenses of like character. Unable to give bond in these cases, Niles was jailed. A few nights ago a great crowd of his men came to Marianna to take him from the officers by force, but the Lee Guards, a militia company composed of the best young men of the place, were put on guard, and the rescue was not attempted. The next day Niles was on trial and got $200 fine and costs, and afterwards, in three more fine and costs, and afterwards, in three more cases, $600 fine. Besides these there is an in-dictment against him for obtaining money under false pretenses, on account of selling lands which he did not own or control. United States Attorney Charles C. Waters wants him for trial under the federal laws for selling whisky without license, and has noti-fied the Lee county authorities to that effect. Before he was arrested Niles had an engage-ment to come to Phillips county and sow his villainy there; indeed, his object was to get the whole eastern part of the state into his race scheme. He has several disciples out who are deliberately at work propagating his projects while he is confined. One of these men made a speech in Languille township in this county, in which he stated that the colored man must rule now; that the people of eastern Arkansas should be made to play "second fiddle," and that the two races must intermenty. The latest development in must intermarry. The latest development in the indemnity party scheme is the connec-tion of Niles, the leader, and Nelson, his as-sistant, of selling liquor without license, and the assessment of fines amounting to about $1,000 each. A RISING RAILROAD CENTER OF GEORGIA

How Gainesville Has Grewn-Property Increasing Daily-A Great Railscad Center-Phe Roads to Dailsonega and Dailton Brauchtes-Osines-ville Schools-A Summer Resort,

Special Correspondence of The Constitution

GAINESVILLE, Ga., May 20 .- Gainesville is the biggest little town I ever saw. She is five years alread of herself and is on a regular spread. I speak knowingly on this point, for a two days tour of observation hereabouts has given me an opportunity of getting at bottom facts. Time and time again I have passed by here, but could never screw up my courage to the sticking point when I resolved to get off. ville was only Gainesville in name, for the town was scarcely a town—only 00 or 300 people living here then. In 1870' e populapeople living here then. In 1870' e popula-tior footed up, on a squeeze, jus 180 people. To-day the number has gone eyond 3,000 and is constantly increasing. heard a gen-tleman say to-day that there were not less than 3,800 inhabitants here but it will be safer to call it an even 3,6° s, which makes the increase since 1870 just 625 per cent. I doubt if any other place in the entire union can show as great an increase per cent in the same length of time. If the popula-tion be truly 3,800, then the increase has been 825 per cent, and if the population were rated as low as 2,000, the increase would show 460 per cent, or 160 per cent more than Hawkinsville, the next town in point of increased per centage in Georgia payt to Gainesville. oentage in Georgia next to Gainesville. presume, though, that 3,000 is about the col rect figures, and this is certainly a very grati fying showing. To toy a little way with the figures, Gainesville first doubled herself in a decade, doubled again and is now doubling for the third time in a decade. This is a feather of large proportion in the cap of Georgia's prosperity, and the tale that it tells of the enterprise of the Gainesvillians is obviously plain and consequently needs no embellishment at my hands. As a Georgian, I am really proud of not on an inflation basis by any means, and every lick struck thus far has been for the weal of the city, for a rapidly growing city it is. I saw a small lot this morning in a side street which sold one month ago for two hundred dollars; to-day the owner refused six hundred for it. I speak of this small item only to show just how values are increasing. I do not wish to convey the idea at all that property is higher here than it ought to be, for it is not. The prices are reasonable enough but everything is in demand. The country surrounding the city is as good as Georgia lands will average and on the suburbs good places can be secured at from eight to ten dollars an acre. In the city, of course values are higher, and I have heard of several lots recently bringing $300 an acre, and others demanding as high as five dollars per front nificent show of thrift and energy as is every this running screed of her industries and busi-demanding as high as five dollars per front foot. It has been remarked in my presence that general values here have increased 100 per cent in two years, a fact I do not pretend to dispute, because I believe it is true.

AS A RALLEDAD CENTER.

Being only fifty miles from Atlanta, it would scarcely be expected that Gainesville could become of much importance as a railroad centre, but this idea is erroneous. Governor Rrown has twice said that this would ernor Brown has twice said that this would be the second railroad centre in Georgia; by reason of its natural advantages. At present the railroad boom is lively. The Richmond the railroad boom is lively. The Richmond and Danville folks have taken acommendable pride in the future of the place, and are help-ing all they can to keep up the now growing interest. There are three new roads now in process of construction from this point, which would seem to indicate that Senator Brewn's ideas were not far from right.

Two of these roads are being worked, while the charter is already obtained for the third. The Gainesville and Jefferson is already doing a healthy business, and runs out some twelve or fifteen miles into the rich belt through which will come a world of wealth into the which will come a world of wealth into the lap of Gainesville. It will go to Jefferson in Jackson county, and will, probably, tap the Georgia road at Covington or Madison. Hon.

A. D. Candler is president of this model narrow eauge, and his name is sufficient guarantee that it will be a successful corporation. No man here, probably, has done as much towards the prosperity of Gainesville as Colonel Candler, and he continues to keep the good work in motion. He has the energy of a steam engine and the train to back it. I used to go to school to him when a stripling, and I delight to honor his career since he used and I delight to honor his career since he used to puzzle me in the hard passages of Casar and Homer, at Griffin.

The road to Dahlonega is being as rapidly The road to Dahlonega is being as rapidly pushed forward as money and men can do it, and a short while will see the great gold belt of Georgia tapped by Gainesville's energy. This promises to be one of the most important enterprises ever undertaken in the state, and the wonder is that it has not been attempted before. People who are competent judges claim that California does not contain richer deposits of gold than does Georgia, and the opening of this road will give the gold fields a new name and an increased fame. My word for it, when this road is finished capitalists interested in gold mining will flock here as they once did to the Black Hills and California. Recently some rich Hills and California. Recently some rich veins have been struck, and the dredging machine in the Chestate river has made some wonderful hauls. The latest railroad fever here is the road to Dalton. As already stated, the charter is ready, and I understand the work will be rapidly pushed forward. Gainesville is in earnest, Dalton is solid for the road, while the people along the route are responding liberally enough. I should not be surprised if a twelve month did not see this road equanding its whistle through. see this road sounding its whistle through Dawson, Pickens, Gilmer, Murrray and Whit field counties. The building of these roads has caused to be floated, but this in no wise disables the town. Indeed, Gainesvalle is all the better off by it. The debt is only $53,000, drawing town. Indeed, Gainesvelle is all the better off by it. The debt is only $53,000, drawing interestlat 6 per cent and none of the bonds are on the market. They are rated above par with none offering. A few thousand were sold the other day at auction, bringing one hundred and two, which shows how the credit of the city stands. These bonds were floated for the purpose of building railroads and schools. There are few cities in Georgia able to boast of a finer system of schools than Gainesville. There are three large colleges here, having an attendance of over three hundred pupils. The Georgia Baptist sentinary is a female school, well attended and is presided over by Professor W. C. Wilkes, who is rapidly pushing the colleges into repute. The Methodist college is also well patronized, has one hundred pupils. Colonel C. B. LaHate being president. The other school is the Gainesville colloge, built by the city, growing rapidly and in charge of President J. J. Methville. These last two colleges are mixed schools, while all three are the pride of Gainesville and have done as much towards building up the good name of the city as any institutions in it. In this work the schools stand next to the calroads as developers of material prespective.

THE BUSINESS OF THE CITY.

There are three churches, Methodist, Bap tist and Presbyterian, and another congregation which has not as yet a house of worship. There are also good colored churches here. The merchants do a heavy trade in all the adjoining counties, and in addition to the retail business, a very creditable jobbing trade has been established. The entire trade of Gainesville in merchandise last year was $1,000,000 and this year it will go even higner than that, probably reaching a million and a half, on probably reaching a million and a half, on account of these new railroads. There are two houses here doing over $150,000 each annually, one of them doing a cotton business outside amounting to $100,000 more. There is a large foundry and machine shop here doing a fine business and is so overrun with work that the owners have been compelled to once.

The cotton receipts here vary from 8,000 to 10,000, but when all these new railroads are completed these figures will swell to 20,000. I had a talk with Mr. John A. Davis this mornthe sticking point when I resolved to get off.

This time, however, a strange god smiled and I was landed into the bosom of one of the liveliest little cities not only in Georgia but of the south. When the war ended Gainesville was only Gainesville in name, for the south of the feet on the square and running back about 125 feet. The other store is of large dimen-sions, situated in the rear of the three men-tioned, and is connected with them. The floor space occupied is over 12,000 square feet, and the business done amounts to $150,000. Bolides this, Mr. Davis does a cotton business of $100,000.

"Are you satisfied with Gainesville's prospects?" I asked, when I had been shown through the establishment.

"O, yes. Everybody in Gainesville are satisfied that the town is growing rapidly."

"Where does your trade extend."

"We sell goods all through Hall, Habersham, White, Lumpkin, Dawson, Jackson, Forsyth, Union and Towns. We even go as far as western North Carolina, seventy-five miles away."

miles away."
"Do you job any goods?"
"Yes, our jobbing trade alone amounts to $40,000 per annum. We deal in almost everything from dry goods and groceries up to steam engines. We also sell presses, threshers and all kinds of machinery to order." Altogether Davis & Co. do one of the handsomest trades I have known anywhere, and their enterprise is a credit to the city and themselves At another time I may mention more of the business in detail of Gainesville. I have only mentioned this one house to show just how solid the business of the town really hands. As a Georgian, I am really proud of the town, and I delight to honor such a mag-

The hotels here are an honor, as well as or-The hotels here are an honor, as well as ornament, to the town. There are already three first-class hotels finished and another fine one being built. The finest of them all, probably, is the Arlington, kept by French & Cook. It is a magnificent brick structure, three stories high, and is away ahead of the town. It cost $40,000, and is fitted up with all modern improvements. Colonel A. D. Candler is the owner. I was really surprised to see such a fine hotel in a place this size. Gainesville is a noted summer resort, and is surrounded by numerous fine mineral springs that have long where visible here. I have already said that the town was full five years ahead of herself and I hope to prove it before I have left off ness. Said a gentleman here to-day, "I be-lieve I can name five hundred people who have come here to locate within the past a noted summer resort, and is surrounded by numerous fine mineral springs that have long been known for their curative properties. Every summer people flock here by hundreds, and during the sultry months the hotels are constantly crowded. At another time L shall speak of some of the springs in detail, especially New Bolland, which is to be run this summer by Hon. W. A. Huff, of the Markham. The elevation here above tide water is 1,400 feet, and in the summer months the climate is as balmy and cool as that of Italy.

The Gainesville street railway is a success, and the only one in the state paying a dividend of 20 per cent.

THE MARE'S TWINS. NEAR RESACA, May 16.—Editors Constitu-tion: I have a mare that gave birth to two horse colts last Monday night; one of them was ordinary size, the other about the size of a large rabbit; one was dead, the other is living and doing well. This being a strange cir-cumstance I thought I would make a note to you of it. Yours, FELIX SLOAN.

The Editor, the Hopper Grass and the Snake From the Swainesboro. Ga., Herald.
Our editor went out hunting on Saturday evening, and while he was chasing a jay-bird from tree to tree, a large "hopper grass" flew up in front of him, and frightened him very up in front of him, and frightened him very much, and he (the editor) immediately shot the poor little thing; after he had killed the "hopper grass," he, in a brave defiant manner, said: "Now, scare me again." He walked on looking every minute for another "hopper gress" to scare him again, but he had not gone very far before he discovered a large coach whip had wound itself around his leg, preparatory to giving him a whipping, he got scared again, he kicked and pranced around considerable, until he got the snake extricated from his leg, and immediately dispatched his snakeship. He did not stop to look for any more "Jay, birds," hopper-grasses." and snakeship. He did not stop to look for any more "lay, birds," hopper-grasses," and "snakes," but struck a bee line for town, where he arrived nearly out of breath.

Only 24 Per Cent Profit. From the LaGrange, Ga., Reporter Troup factory has just closed its first year's operations as a corporation. The earnings were 24 per cent on the capital invested. This is a remarkable showing, and, while demonwere 24 per cent on the capital invested. This is a remarkable showing, and, while demonstrating the extraordinary financial ability of the energetic president, Colonel A. D. Abraham dissipates all doubts as to the profitableness of manufacturing in the south. This is an old factory, with old machinery, and about two-thirds of the earnings have been "poured back into the jug", that is, devoted to the repairing of the looms, spindles, and making other improvements. If it pays so handsomely with these disadvantages, what may we expect of a mill, under similar management, with modern machinery, and located in LaGrange, near the railroad; thus saving the expensive item of hauling 'he raw cotton and the 'production' a distance of ten miles? Twenty-four per cent! Who wants a petter investment?

ATLANTA'S TRADE.

A Bird's Eye View of the Whole Business Field of th

during the cotton exposition bave told severely against the business of the seasons following, the winter's business having been the lightest, comparatively, known for years. This is especially true of lines of trade which cater to the luxuries. Country people from all the surrounding states visiting the city during the exposition mouths made heavy pur-enases of all kinds of goods. This was felt in the decreased sales at points tributary to Atlanta, and, in consequence, country dealers lessened their orders from the city. Thus, while Atlanta still shows a trade for the most part surpassing the sales of former years, yet when the increased population and larger area of territory are considered it will in reality be lighter. In dry goods an active demand is noted and a fixer grade of goods is called for. This business is very heavy in Atlanta at all times. The spring of 1880 witnessed as lively a trade in dry goods as was ever seen in the city. In 1881 the spring of 1880 witnessed as lively a trade is dry goods as was ever seen in the city. In 1881 the weather was so uncertain during the winter that the distrust extended through the spring, thus shertening sales. This year, beyond the fact that spring has been three weeks late, everything looks favorable for a heavy business. In three of the largest dry goods houses the books showed sales during the spring months of 1880, $33,000, $29,000 and $83,000, respectively while an average week's sales this spring indicates sales for the same period, $36,000, $40,000, $40,000, and $27,000, respectively while an average week's sales this spring indicates sales for the same period, $36,000, $34,000, $40,000. These figures will indicate protty generally the relative conditions of dry goods, clothing, militarry, and other lines connected with human attric. In groceries there is a marked diminution which promises to be noticed for several years yet to come. This is accounted for in the ever in creasing efforts of the farming consumptly to raise their own supplies. At first, carried on in a rural way, this work is ever becoming one of more intelligent manipulation. A falling off in saces of meats and breadstuffs, then, does not really indicate a falling off in legistmate business, but a return to the normal condition of things, when buyers only are those charged in professions, mechanics, and lessure, and the agriculturists what they should be—self-producers. A sharp increase in the price of living over the past two years exists. Whiskies and whose are in active sale, more wine having passed through dealers' hands than ever before known. Pertilizers, composts and guanos show d-creased sales, but there are increased sales for articles necessary in the composing of homemade manures. Boots, shoes, and leather goods show a decrease in sales, but dealered to not seen discouraged, and acribe various lo alcanses as explanation. made manures. Boots, shoes, and leather goods show a decrease in sales, but dealers of not seem discouraged, and asortice various to al causes as explanation. One enterprise in which Atlanta seems doomed to fail in, is that of boot and shoe manufacture. There is not a shoe factory in the city at present. The music and book houses are full of business. There is a great demand throughout the country for the aids to civilizat in which music and books afford. Sewing machine cempanies report heavy sales. General farmers' implements, etc., are very active. In hardware great activity exists. Builders' material is espécially hard to keep a sufficient supply of in stock, several houses finding all they can do to fill contractors' orders. In table cuttery the best English goods are freely sold. The fron trade, in all its forms, is the most solidand remunerative in the city. It enters so largely into the recuperative work going on that its operation is rather phenomenal than normal. Confections, crackers, pe nuts, and the fancy groceries are doing an excellent business. The growth of this business will be better understood by stating the fact of a few hundred dollars put into candes, etc., eight years ago, now doing a business of $600,000 a year. The merchants report money as easy, collections good, and sales profundle. There is a gre-t demand for better goods than in previous years, and better prices are more readily obtained. Country customos are cautious in their trades, buying articles of necessity, and avoiding the waste of money. Many dealers are endeavoring to break up the credit system, but it seems to be uphill work. The lesson of being one year shead instead of one year behind is a hard one to learn. Yet there are satisfactory indications that the list of independent farmers will be largely increased this year. The growth of Atlanta's manufactures is wonderful. Three years ago a small plow factory was est-oblished, doing the rudest kind of work. To day that institution employs 250 men and pays oft $2000 per week SLATERS AND ROOFERS. ELATERS AND ROOFERS.

ATLANTA, GA., MAY 23, 1882.

SUPREME COURT DECISIONS. The Supreme Court Decisions for February term 1882, are now ready. Price one dollar.

THE signal service bureau report indicates for Georgia to-day, colder cloudy weather, deal of ground: with rain, southwest veering to northwest winds, stationary or higher pressure.

GAINESVILLE may be excused for boasting some when she has jumped up from five hundred to a thousand per cent since 1870. There is solid foundation for this increase. Gainesville is rapidly becoming a railroad center, which bids fair to be second only to Atlanta The town attracts the trade and taps the produce of a rich and growing section of agricultural and mineral land.

Way should martial law be declared in Alaska? Senator Miller, the anti-Chinese senator from California, wants the United States government to do so. Senator Miller is used to high-handed operations, but civil education—the rudiments of English and government is powerful enough to command all that is necessary even among the Aleuts. Senator Miller's resolution smacks too much often than not is inoculated with the idea that of the Alaska fur seal company, which he represents in the United States senate, and not respectable. Just how and where this which would in its way like to play Hudson's bay company in Alaska.

Seven or eight steamers, and ten times as many sailing vessels, are caught in ice in the regular line of summer travel on the northern sea lanes. The ice completely surrounds Cape Breton and chokes the passage between that island and New Foundland. Large fields of ice, and among them large icebergs, are reported off Cape. Race. One ship has already been sunk by an iceberg. Viewed by and large, as the sailors say, ocean travel this summer, unless traveling over the southern Maury ocean lane routes, will be more than usually dangerous.

SILK growing has had two periods in Georgia history. The story of the first is told in an admirable epitome in the census report silk. Because it has failedand yet failure is too harsh and inaccurate a word-twice in Georgia is a sign that silk growing may not prove a success. On the contrary, as in most other trials, the argument for analogy would be, that having partly succeeded twice, the third time should be a success. Indeed, the causes of failure heretofore have been extrinsic rather than intrinsic

Our Presbyterian visitors are, as it were, walking over a quagmire just now in which they may be plunged. Naturally enough the question of the resumption of fraternal relations with the northern Presbyterians is one which chiefly concerns the parties interested. but it is pertinent to say that the general consensus of opinion of the majority of the delegates appears to be in favor of some sort o over the bloody chasm. In so doin they can hardly go wrong; certainly not even if they go no further than the Methodists, who are a larger body, have done.

THE people of Tennessee are divided in the debt settlement matter between the 60-3-4-5-6 proposition and the 50-4 plan. Under the former the deht-say $30,000,000-would be scaled down to $18,000,000, upon which amount interest is to be paid at 3 per cent for two years, at 4 per cent for two more years, at 5 per cent for the next two years, and at 6 per cent afterwards until the principal is paid. The proposed new bonds are to run thirty years. The other proposition is to scale the debt to $15,000,000, upon which 4 per cent interest shall be paid for thirty years. The latter plan would result in a saving over the former plan of interest and principal amounting in thirty years to $15,240,000, or enough to pay off the principal. The lower house of the legislature is considering the subject.

Just a word in the ear of a few papers like the Philadelphia Press, Chicago Inter-Ocean and St. Louis Globe-Democrat. If one Georgia grand jury found true bills at one session for the following crimes-abortion, seven cases of assaults with guns, knives, and pistols, and with intent to kill, forgery, incest, eleven cases of larceny, mutilating grave stones and rape-what would not you say about crime at the south? Such a list of bills was found by the grand jury, and where do think? In and right around what has been called the most cultivated community in the United States, and one which supports what has been called the best newspaper in the United States; that is the Springfield Republican right in the heart of Massachusetts. Abortion, incest, rape, forgery, shooting and stabbing, all in Massachusetts too. well, we we won't write an editorial on "Crime in the North" since they don't seem to like to say anything about it themselves.

MR. STEPHENS'S LETTER.

There is no longer any doubt where Mr. Stephens stands. He surveys the field of poli- in the bill an amendment of no small importics from the summit of the solid pyramid of tance. The fairness colonels in a simply ridiculous light. Colonel | and justice of Mr. Hammond's amendment Jack Falstaff himself, was not a more arrant commended it to the house. PRACTICAL EDUCATION. Frequently-but hardly as frequently as demand-THE CONSTITUTION has called attention to the grievous imperfection which exists in our educational system-an imperfection which is as characteristic of our primary schools as it is of our colleges and universities. In each and all of these there is a woful lack of the practical, and it is a lack that is at once special and general. In a recent issue of the Detroit Free Press, under the heading of "Willing to Do Anything," we find the following, which, as will be seen, covers a good

While a skillful workman can get employment at good wages in New York, those who are "willing to do anything"—which means that they know how to do little or nothing—have no chance at all; there are a hundred applicants for every vacancy. "No small number of the searchers for places." says a reporter who has examined the subject, "are native Americans. With neither trade nor profession, they are forced to take whatever offers A thorough classical education, however desirable it may be, is of little use in the employment market unless backed by some useful practical knowledge. College graduates are standing on every corner looking for work. If any person should desire to ride up Broadway in a coach drawn by a score of accomplished cellegians, he would have no trouble in empleying them, even if he offered them no more than their board." A man who "had pawned his clothes to pay for his advertisement," advertises that he wants work of any kind where he can carn his board.

The difficulty is, that in our system, what While a skillful workman can get employment at

The difficulty is, that in our system, what ever is supplementary to a common school other essentials-is all in the direction of the professions. With his classics, the pupil more manual labor is vulgar and that the trades are idea becomes a part of the pupil's mental equipment it would be difficult to say, though in all probability it is the result of that mad pride of intellectuality which takes possession of the sophomoric mind. As matters stand a classical education is a hindrance rather than a help to a young man starting out in practical life. He has devoted his best years to acquiring superfluous info:. mation. He is "accomplished," as the dwellers among bric-a-brac would say, but his accomplishments do not help him to a career; indeed they do not enable him to earn his bread with any degree of mental or bodily comfort. It is the fashion to speak of the "advantages" of a classical education, but it is questionable whether, in an ordinary way, there are any advantages. The ambitious young man who is compelled by circumstances to work for his living, while his more fortunate neighbor is enjoying the benefits of a classical education, may be depended upon, other things being equal, to succeed when his neighbor will fail. This is just as true now as it was a hundred years ago, and the fact has often been cited as an argument against public education: but the point we desire to make is this: if an industrious, ambiticus young man can secure the benefits of a liberal education, and at the same time equip himself independently of all such benefits, why is it not possible for our schools-particularly our colleges and those institutions which pretend to prepare a young man for the serious business of making his way in the world-to turn their attention to the practical? There is no objection to the classics, provided such things do not form the and get. sum and substance of a young person's equipment, but why is it not possible for our institutions of learning to extend their influence into the domain of the practical and the useful. It may be that there are objections to introducing technical education of any sort into the public schools, but certainly great improvements can be made in the direction of practical education without going to the extent suggested. Pupils can be taught much valuable information that is now left to accident or caprice, and they can also be taught to use their hands as well as their minds. At any rate, there must be some sort of reform in our system. The education, as well as the future of our young people is affected by new conditions and new relations, and their course at school and 'at college, if it go beyond the rudiments of an old-fashioned English education, must include the practical with the ornamental. This is rendered necessary by the changed conditions which the growing

THE BANK CHARTER BILL The bank charter bill in its amended form and as it passed the house, is not a dangerous measure. Under its provisions the banks cannot combine for the purpose of squeezing the money market or bull-dozing the government. Neither does the bill give them a new lease of privileges for any term of years, for the power to alter or repeal the act extending their charters is expressly reserved. Other material amendments were adopted; every one of which is in the interest of the people.

Mr. Hammond succeeded in incorporating same footing in each state as the state banks. As to say that Georgia never sent up to the na-

Meantime, we desire to take advantage of a brief lull to announce to our esteemed republican contempothe importance of the subject would seem to raries that their Uncle Samuel Tilden, who is primping himself behind the curtains, shows a disposition to march down to the footlights and show the public how healthy his health is.

SHIPHERD is by no means tired of the investige tion, in which the fact has clearly been settled that he is a fraud of the first water. He says he has more disclosures to make, but it is evident that his only desire is to advertise himself.

Some of the little two-by-ten statesmen in th democratic party in congress want the democrats to make long winded speeches in order to explain why they propose to filibuster to prevent the republi cans from ousting democrats entitled to their seats The two-by-tens evidently think the people are un mitigated asses.

THE locomotive engineers of Pennsylvania and New York do not plug their whistles. But they laugh heartily when told that Georgia engineers wouldn't drive an engine that didn't scream like a scared woman. They say it is an old trick of ap prentices.

THE FULTON COUNTY GRANDJURY Adjournment of the Body Yesterday-A Report on the Condition of the Convict Camp. The grand jury adjourned yesterday leaving, as the result of its labors, about a dozen true bills, a report on the condition of the convict camp of B. G. Lockett & Co., and some other matters of minor importance. W. L. Mangum was recommended for notary public of the 1352d district, G. M. The body called attention to the fact that in some instances magistrates had failed to send up to the superior ourt the names of the witnesses in cases tried in their courts. The importance of enforcing this provision of law was urged. Below is the report on the condition of the convict camp, made in conformity to the law which provides that the grand jury in a county-in which a camp is located, shall visit and report on the condition of the camps and the con-

G. Lockett & Co., performed that duty yesterday and beg leave to make the following report:

We arrived at said camps between the hours of nine and ten in the morning quite unexpectedly to the owners, as they had no intimation of our coming and hence had made no extra preparation to receive us, and all their working force was in their every-day attire, and at their usual avocations. Colonel Lockett, one of the proprietors. being present received us most cordially and in being present received us most cortainly and invited our closest scrutiny and most thorough examination into everything connected with the camp. We entered upon that exsmination, accompanied by Colonel Lockett, and made a careful investigation of all the various departments of sail camp. We found the entire force, with one exception, at work, the larger portion of them employed in the various departments of making, burning and loading brick, and another portion cultivating a farm in connection with said ultivating a farm in co portion cultivating a farm in connection with said camps. All the convicts were well and comfortably clad, and showed by their general appearance and demeanor that they were but moderately worked. No case of overwork or cruel or even unkind treat-ment came under our observation, nor were we inment came under our observation, nor were we informed of any by the convicts themselves, who were given opportunity of giving such information. The restraint placed upon the convicts seemed to be only what was absolutely necessary to accomplish the purposes which the law had in view in placing them at work. The guards were colored—said to be very efficient and under fine control and discipline. We found the sleeping apartments cleanly, very comfortable in its bunks and bedding, well ventilated, and at the same time ample means for rendering them, sufficiently warm for health and comfort. The males and femaies have separate apartments. The convict nen loned above who was not at work was slightly sick, and will doubtless be out again in a few days. The conveniences was not at work was slightly sick, and win doubles less be out again in a few days. The conveniences for attending to and caving for the sick are ample and appropriate. In the eating department everything seemed to be cleanly, abundant and wholesome. We were informed that each convict received one pound of meat per day and meal without limit, a veryabundantsupply if furnished, and we have no reason to doubt it. The supply of water for drinking and callinary burposes was not as good as could be desire¹, nor as good as it had been, but we were assur-ed that this deficiency sh uld be remedied and an abuntant supply of good, wholesome water should be furnished immediately. In taking leave of this subject we beg leave to say that if all convict camps in the state of Georgia are managed as well as this in all its various departments little cause of complaint, even by the mest fastidium would

THE GEORGIA FRUIT CROP.

Mr. Joseph M. Brown, General Freight Agent of the

The attendance on the fruit growers convention called for next Thursday promises to be very grati lying. Representatives will be here from nearly every city in Georgia, and they will be met by rail and and express officials, representing the main lines from Georgia to the north and west. A large amount of information is already collected for the use of delegates, and the chances are that the coming convention will be one of the most efficient and useful ever held in the state. MR. JOSEPH M. BROWN, OF THE STATE ROAD. MR. JOSEPH M. BROWN, OF THE STATE ROAD.

Mr. Joseph M. Brown, the general freight agent, of the State road, says:

"I have about concluded the schedule rates for cars to the westero cities. The rate on a car from Atlanta to Nashville will be $40. The price will will range from this to $65 to Chicago. As a car ought to carry about 250 bushels of fruit, the price per bushel will be about twenty-six cents. the rates to the other cities in the west will be $50 to Louisville, Evansville and Cincinnati and $60 to St. Louis and Indianapolis and the rate per bushel will be in proportion to these figures, estimating about two hundred and fifty bushels for each car. These rates we consider very low inand 800 to 8t. Louis and Indianapolis and the rate per bushels will be in proportion to these figures, estimating about two bundred and fifty bushels for each car. These rates we consider very low insections and the rate and car. These rates we consider very low insections are considered to develop the business. If the fruit is worthess on arrival at its destination the shipper loses his goods and the whole line is to lose its freight charges. Mr. E. F. Wilson, general freight agent of the Cincinnati Southern railway agrees to this for himself and his connections at Cincinnati In the territory east of 8t. Louis and south of Chicago and west of Fi taburg, Fa. Mr. Knox, of the Nashville, Chattanooga and 8t. Louis railway, and Mr. Culp, of the Louisville and Nashville, have written me that they will require that the freight charges be guaranteed; but I have no doubt but that when the situation is made clear to them they will cooperate heartily, as they did last winter in like shipments of Florida oranges to the northwest. So I think there will be no trouble on this score. The time to tincinnati, Louisville and Evansville will be about fifty or fifty-four hours, to 8t Louis about three days and a half, and to Chicago four daysand a fraction. While we can't guarantee this latter every time, yet we feel reasonably certain that these figures will, on an average, be main ained."

"No. but I am in correspondence with refrigerator car companies and will very soon know what ice will cost. I am satisfied that such rates will be secured as will add very little to the cost of carriage. I don't say positively, because I have not the figures yet in hand but I think it probable that fruit may be chipped by quick schedules from Atlanta to Chicago in refrigerator cars for something like fifty cents a bushel. It seems to me that this is as low as the fruit growers could desire. With refrigerator cars it does not matter how long the fruit is en route, as it will be perfectly preserved fruit train will reach each station, so that the fruit growers can be ready for it. As soon as a car is filled it will be closed and pushed on to the west by the would be used. It now develops that the sound growers can be ready for it. As soon as a car is filled it will be closed and pushed on to the west by the quickest possible freight. In this way we hope to encourage the local fruit growers on our line to bring their fruit to the station and thereby get a large market and lucrative prices. I will be ready to give to the fruit growers' convention the most detailed and defivite information upon this and other points connected with the transportation of fruit as far as our line is concerned."

HE STEPS DOWN AND OUT.

Mr. Andrew Clark Leaves the Office of Collector and Turns it Over to Mr. Johnson. On Saturday morning at 8 o'clock a very important work was commenced in the internal revenue office. It consisted of the transfer of the office with all the contents to Mr. Walter H. Johnson, the new collector who succeeds Mr. Clark. The transfer was made by C. W. Eldridge, United States revenue agent, and occupied about three hours. A list of every article in the office was made and everything was receipted for. The transfer was completed at eleven o'clock and Mr. Johnson then went before United States Commissioner W. B. Smith and took the oath of office and became in name and in fact the collector of the district. Yesterday was a busy day at the office, all hands were overwhelmed with work. Mr. Clark was too busy to say a word to a Constitution reporter, but after a considerable amount of urging Mr. Clark finally said:

"I will remain in Atlanta and will take a rest which I have long needed. I have not yet determined office. It consisted of the transfer of the office with Collector Clark has been in the office up to yesterday since 1869, and yesterday when the books and papers were examined they were not out of balance a single cent. Collector Johnson and Mr. Clark both wore smiling countenances yesterday clark both wore smining counterances yeserdadespite their hurry consequent upon the transfer They are strong personal friends and are, it is said in full accord politically. Mr. Johnson says that he will not make any changes yet, but he will wait a few days before taking any action.

A NEGLIGENT CONDUCTOR

From the Detroit Free Press.

When the train going west over the Detroit, Lansing and Northern railroad had pulled out of Howell the other day, the conductor discovered that a man who should have stopped off there was still on board "Didn't you hear the brakeman call out your sta tion?" he asked.

"Yes, I heard him call Howell, but how did I know it was the Howell I wanted to get off at? I've never traveled over this road before."

"Well, we don't have but one Howell on this "Then why didn't you come to me like a man and say so? I'm from Nova Scotia, and how was I to know but that your country was full of Howells?" Howells?"

"Passengers should know where they want to get off," muttered the conductor.

"So they should, sir, and if you had kindly come to me and notified me that this was the only Howell, and that this was the Howell where my aunt lives, I should not now be here, sir. I shall now decline to get off this train until I have the advice of her majesty's consul at Detroit!"

Cour De Llon's Prize.

The Savanuah News, in its issue of the 19th, makes a a correction of an article in a previous issue concerning the drill, which was reprinted in THE CONSTITUTION, and says: "Colonel C. W. Anderson was umpire, not judge, at the competitive drill of the Knights Templar on Wednesday afternoon, and in awarding the prize to Cour de Lion commandery of Atlanta announced the unanimous decision of the judges. The honor was awarded the Atlanta commandery upon their merits and the excellence of their drill." Before-leaving many of the Cour de Lion knights were assured by the judges that the decision was unanimous.

While in Savannah the commandery challenged Palestine commandery of that city, for another drill next year during the grand conclave to be held in Columbus, Ga; the commandery will also probably enter the competitive drill at san Francisco, California, in August, 1383. The commandery will soon hold a reception, to which all Sir Kuights and their ladies will be invited, and the prize will be brought in use as a center piece on the refreshment table. An exhibition drill is also contemplated.

She said that she was in a destitute condition and that she had applied to the Benevolent home for protection, but that she had been refused admittance. The officer, after hearing her statement, started to show her the way to the calaboose, but before they had gone a dozen steps the woman dropped upon the sidewalk. Subsequently she was removed to the station house, when Dr. Ed. Roach, the First ward physician, was summoned. An examination showed that the woman was suffering from an epileptic fit, and that her condition was a precarious one. Later in the night she was removed to the Benevolent home.

The St. Philips Injunction Case.

The 8t. Philips Isjanction Case.

Yesterlay in chambers Judge Hillyer heard the injunction case of J. W. Beckwith, bishop of the diocese, against the wardens and vestrymen of St. Philip's parish. The injunction asked for was to prevent the mortgaging of the St. Philip's church property and the issue of bonds, and the case was brought by Bishop Beckwith as trustee. After hearing the case Judge Hillyer refused the isjunction, but on an intimation that the case might be carried up, an order was granted temporarily restraining the mortgaging or selling of the property on which the churches stand, but allowing the vacant property to be mortgaged.

THE DEAD POET. IN MEMORIAM HENRY W. LONGFELLOW.

Voices that wander by day, And voices that haunt the night, Call, and are calling for aye:

"Poet! O poet! write; "Beauty, and splendor, and fire And wisdom of heavenly things, Are thine, and the magical lyre Moving the world with its strings: "Thine are the eye and the ear, Perfect, clairvoyant and fine, Wherewith to see and to hear Music and visions divine;

"Thou dost the universe scan With wise interpreting look, And readest in the heart of man, As one who reads a book.

"Out of the infinite skies, Out of the fathomless sea. Out of the moment that flies, Out of the time yet to be, "Call we, from night unto day,

Call we, from day unto night-Hearken to us and obey-Poet! O poet! write! Voices that wander by day! And voices that haunt the night!

Poet! O poet! write He, the Immortal, who gave Heed unto you best of all. Speech to the star and the wave, Voice to the sparrow's fall,

He, of the laurel-crowned head,

Calling and calling for aye:

And the spirit undefiled. Whose mighty god's brain was With the heart of a child. He, our beloved and best Honored in hut and in hall, How can he heed your behest? How can he answer your call? Ashes the splendor and fire Flashed from his soul's white wings

Silent the magical lyre That moved the world with its strings And yet, while Nature shall live. And seasons wither and bloom While hearts shall be glad or grieve

In glory or in gloom No tone of his peerless lyre, No song of his shall be lost: In the ashes still lives the fire, The seed in the sacred dust;

For us, and the ages, again His deathless spirit will write-You called not your poet in vain O Voices of Day and Night! -CHARLES W. HUBNER.

The Calm of Monday Morning—The Case of the Men phis Calored Man—Report of the Committee on Foreign Correspondence—An Asima ed Debate on Both Sides of the Question.

A profusion of flowers filled the First Presbyterian church with their aroma, as the oners, with the calmn born of Sabbath reflection, shone upon their faces. The attendance was rather meagre, but as business progressed the number increased until the church was pretty well filled. The first buzz of interest was created when Dr. Lefevre announced the readiness of the judicial committee to report on the case of the colored minister in the Memphis presbytery, but the interest turned somewhat into wonder when the chairman declined to ask for a special order, simply requesting that the report be placed upon the docket. The great question of the day, and, indeed, the great question of the entire assembly, was broached when Dr. Brown, chairman of the foreign correspondence committee, announced the readiness of that body to report.

THE OPENING OF BUSINESS.

The opening of religious service was conducted by Rev. James Stacy, of Newnan, Georgia. The report on Tuscaloosa institute for colored ministers was read by DrStillman. An overture was presented from the presbytery of Athens, for the publication of a hymn book with trues. Referred to the committee on publication. Dr. Girardeau, from the committee on foreign missions, desired to make a partial report. A meeting of the assembly partial report. A meeting of the assembly was requested for 8 o'clock at night, at which Rev. Drs. Leighton, Wilson, Pratt and others would speak. On motion of Dr. Lefevre the request was agreed to. Dr. Girardeau then announced that there were many demands upon the treasury, in consequence of which a upon the treasury, in consequence of which a collection would be taken up at the same time. Dr. Bryan made a partial report from the committee on home missions. He asked that Tuesday night be set apart for the conthat Tuesday night be set apart for the consideration of the question, and on his request it was resolved that a collection should be taken up for this purpose also. Dr. A. P. Smith, from the committee on publication, moved that Wednesday night should be set apart for the consideration of the publication interests of the church, and that a collection interests of the connection with this subject. interests of the church, and that a continue interests of the church, and that a continue that the church called for a dialso. Dr. Lefevre called for a di-vision of the question, as they were rather overdoing the business of colrather overlong the business of collections. So ordered, and on vote the meeting was ordered to be held, but the collection was not to be taken up. Dr. Lefevre desired to present the report of the judicial committee. Stated Clerk Wilson interrupted with a paper which he desired to present. It was for the appointment of E. G. Peyton and S. F. Massengill to act as commissioners of was for the appointment of E. G. Peyton and S. F. Massengill to act as commissioners of the Inslee fund. Dr. Lefevre then proceeded with his report. It related to the appeal from the Memphis presbytery regarding the right of a colored minister to a seat in the presbytery. The committee reported a plan by which the assembly should take up and vote upon the question by sections. The report was received. Dr. Lefevre then explained that he would not ask to have the question made a special order, as his experience had taught him that special orders only served to clog other business of equal importance. He therefore asked that the report be placed on the docket to take its place in its regular order. That direction was ordered.

R. CO., th. 1882. foreign correspondence, submitted the following report:

The committee on foreign correspondence report to the general assembly that five overtures have been placed in their hands, viz: from the presbyteries of Abington, Atlanta, Holston, South Alabama and Maryland. Also a resolution fiered by Rev. A. W. Pitzer, D. D. The object of all these overtures, with some slight difference in their forms of expression, is the same. They desire and respectfully request this general assembly to establish fully and formally what are called "fraternal relations" with the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United states of America, by sending forthwith a delegate or delegates to that body, now in session at Springfield, Ill. The resolution referred to proposes also, that such delegation shall convey an expression of "our gates to that body, now in session at Springlield.

Ill. The resolution referred to proposes also, that such delegation shall cenvey an expression of 'our willingness to co-operate with that body, as far as practicable, in the work of home and foreign evan gelizacion."

After the most careful consideration your committee have been able to give to the weighty matters involved, they recommend to the assembly the adoption of the following paper:

White the general assembly might restrict its answer to these overtures and the resolution, by a general reference to the action of former assemblies on the same subject, it may be proper to state it somewhat fully, not only out of regard to the sources from which these papers emanate, but as useful to a right understanding of the matter in hand. It is our deliberate judgment that to accede to the requests aforesaid would not be a measure suitable in itself, nor would in hister to the edification of our church; and this judgment is sustained by the following reasons:

1. Recause it would be inconsistent with the position taken by our church—a position thoroughly considered and thoroughly established.

In 1874 a committee was appointed by our assembly, at the request of the northern assembly, to confer fully with a committee of that body "concerning the removal of those causes which have heretoors prevented fraternal relations between the two churches." When these two committees met in Baltimore in January, 1875, and the committee of the northern assembly was requested to state what measure they proposed for healing our divisions they answered: "We now propose that your committee of delegates, thus recognizing each other as corresponding bodies."

This our committee refused to do, and it was precisely upon this point and the principle involved.

This our committee refused to do, and it was pre This our committee refused to do, and it was precisely upon this point and the principle involved in it that the whole design of conference failed to agree. In accordance with the language used by our general assembly as late as last year, "it never has been with our church a question whether we should not, in some form, acknowledge a Christian brotherhood with the northern Presbyterians. More Catholic and Christian s-miments towards all evangelical churches, more especially those of the Presbyterian order, are no where to be found than in our minutes of 1861 and 1865. But the question simply is as to the form and extent of the acknowledgement. This statement is established by well known facts:

known facts:

1. At the close of the war, when brethren of the 1. Nothern church were present in our synods and presbyteries, they were invited to set as corresponding members.

1. At the close of the war, when breamen of the Noithern church were present in our synods and presbyteries, they were invited to set as corresponding members.

2. As soon as a Christian salutation was sent by their assembly, it was unanimously reciprocated. But

3. In 1870, and subsequently, we declined a proposal for an interchange of delegates, which would recognize each other as corresponding bodies on the distinct ground that this has always been r garded as the most manifest and visible consummation, and the most complete evidence of such relations. Like the sending of ambassadors between nations, this interchange of delegates carries with it the fullest significance of fellowship, and we dectined it unless our aggrievances should first be removed.

This proposition has been confirmed by the action of the assemblies of 1875, 1876, 1877, 1878 and 188. To accede, then, to the requests now presented, would be nothing less than a surrender of this position. Having been most carefully taken, and its rightfulness reaffirmed so deliberately and repeatedly, it should not be yielded now except under most controlling considerations.

And this introduces a second reason for not granting the request here referred to, viz:

2. Because the position aforesaid was right and proper. If it was wrong, no considerations of consistency are worthy of regard for a moment. The only upright way of dealing with acknowledged wrong is to confess it, and as far as possible to repail it. But as to the righteousness of our position, we may safely refer: 1. to the fact that we have never in a single instance assumed an aggressive attitude towards the Northern Presbyterian church, but on the contrary have explicitly declared "no grievances experienced by us, however real, would justify us in acts of aggression, or a spirit of malice against any branch of Christis visible kingdom."

(2) To the fact that no instance is known to us in modern times in which one part of the denomination of Christians has heaped upon another such extreme and o is because it would inflict a grievous wound uponthe bosom of our own church. Even supposing it could be agreed to hold in abeyance the considerations already presented—to wave the whole question of consistency and of right—there is, to say the least, a great multitude in our communion, and among our very best people who would feel deeply aggrieved by the step proposed. They have intensely sympathized with our beloved church in allher sorrows and trials, and when our general assembly has through all these trying times vindicated her Christian honor against the aspersions of her assailants, they have rejoiced to recognize in it the protection of their own. Will the time evor come when that protection shall fail? Can the sending of delegates to the northern assembly furnish any compensation for the infliction of such an tion as may be found practicable with all the "Reformed churches."

2. In reference to the work of home evangelization, this assembly does herby declare its readiness to co-operate, in every way which may be found practicable and judicious, with all of the "Reformed churches" in the undertaking which we are now struggling to advance, but with efforts and means so utterly inadequate to its vastness and importance. We refer to the work of building up a separate Presov terian church of the colored people, according to the policy accepted by all Evangelical denominations in the southern states, and in general more earnestly desired by the population of African descent themselves than by any other. Presbyterian church of the United States of America (as, indeed, towards their fellow Christian everywhere), and to co-operate with them, as far a practicable, in every good work; thus manifesting to the world the great outh that, notwithstanding the imperfections and divisions in the church of Christ, there is still a unity and a communion of saints which is of priceless value.

THE DEBATE OPENED.

Mr. P. Fairly, of Mississippi, moved to receive and adopt the report. Dr. Pitzer suggested to the chairman of the committee that there were two minds in the body as to the differences of the past. Although the report did not come by the the measure of whether differences of the past. Although the report of did not come up to the measure of what he and his friends wanted, yet for the sake of peace, he would be content if the committee would eliminate from the report the embodied "reasons" and thus let the report be unanimous. This, in connection with the telegrams sent would cover the case. We should make for peace, and for that purpose he moved that the "reasons" be omitted from the report. Dr. Brown thought that, coming from Dr. Pitzer, the proposition was very strange. So ardent was Dr. Pitzer for the sending of delegates and early action, that he endeavored to anticipate the regular order by his resolution now before the committee. If the telegrams were sufficient did he not know his resolution now before the committee. If the telegrams were sufficient did he not know that then as well as now. He defended the reasons embodied in the report. The charac-ter of the overtures in favor of fraternal relations were such as to demand an elaborate reply in order to give a correct idea of the matter at issue. The granting of the overtures would be a surrender of principle. overtures would be a surrender of principle.

Dr. DuBose favored striking out, as it was the path to peace. The paper, as presented, means irritation and argument. He moved to recommit the report, that the necessary alterations might be made. Dr. Lefevre took the floor, and entered into a long argument, in which he particularly insisted that the third reason should be sustained. He was willinged but the dead are there is dead and the sustained of the particularly insisted that the willing to let the dead past bury its dead, and recognized the fact that we have a right to surrender our rights if by so doing good may result; but though we surrender the right we may still hold to the principle. A question involved in this controversy is whether we churches when they go to Baltimore, so that we are carrying our burdens alone. All of us should be willing to carry our difficulties into- the the grave with us, but let it not be with dishonor. Therefore, he wanted especially the third reason to be retained. Dr. Pitzer said that fourteen years ago with two persons he met in a Washington room, and organized a church which now stands 13th in a list of 1,900. Councils have erred, people have erred, we ourselves have our share. A great part of life passes in rectifying error. There are those who claim to be the special custodians of the church. Confederate brigadiers coming to Washington do not find any principle so deep as to prevent them from constant attendance on northern able quibbling should cease. The churches. The action of the general assem-bly of 1870, refusing to send delegates, was a great blunder. that are conscientious? Are there not some—yes, in all probability at least a majority among our brethren of the northern Presbyterian church—who are just as conscientious as we are in holding their opinions? It is absurd to suppose that we only are conscientious in this controver-y, and that our northern brethren are not. This assembly 1 do not believe will take this ground. The people of the north houestly believe—at least many of them—that the states had no constitutional right to secede. And believing this, northern Presbyterians thought we did wrong in following our states in secession and obeying them as "the powers that be." These northern Presbyterians were conscientious in this, and, believing terians were conscientious in this, and, believing as "the powers that be." These northern Presby-terians were conscientious in this, and, believing that we were wrong, they said some pretty hard things against us—things which still stand upon their records, and things which still stand upon their records, and things which still stand upon conscientiously see that, holding the politi-cal views they do, they ought to make this retraction—at least not more so than they have done. And it seems to me that they have apole. done. And it seems to me that they have apolo gized, and I am satisfied with their apology as ufficient.

Now, in order to harmonize this assembly, I prolose the following paper as a substitute for Dr.

figious bodies at the expense of the fraternal relations of our own members. Presbyterians from the south divide off into the northern from its position as heretofore taken in protesting against certain grievances which we claim to have been inflicted upon us by the northern Presbyterian assembly, and while we do not think they have done all that they ought to have done toward removing these grievances, yet we do not now agree to send a delegate or delegates, to bear our fraternal greetings to the northern Presbyterian assembly now in session at Springfield, Ill., and are now ready to co-operate with them in the work of home and foreign evangelization."

Mr. Brown, of Virginia, represented a pres bytery—the Lexington—in Virginia, which was encrusted in Presbyterianism—"the stalwart of the stalwarts"—and which had proable quibbling should cease. The report admits that fraternity exist-except as to "form." Then brush that form away. We compromise no principle in extending this form a little further. There are rights on both sides. I was with Lee—a rebel who never surrendered—as such I want this quibbling to stop. There is a large and interest of the property of rights on both sides. I was with Lee—a rebel who never surrendered—as such I want this quibbling to stop. There is a large and increasing membership who think it should stop. Presbyterianism is injured by our course. Professor W. W. Lumpkin, of Athens, said: "My heart is full with Dr. Pitzer's resolution. I mingle with the people, and as one of the

I mingle with the people, and as one of the people, I look with astonishment that the Presbyterian church is divided when even poli-ticians have shaken hands over the bloody ticians have shaken bands over the bloody chasm. I revere the past, but when I have a question to settle I look to the future. We are allowed to commune, but not to fraternize. I love old Georgia. She has honored my family ahead of me. As a Georgian, speaking for Georgians, I want fraternity. We have both said hard things, but the time

We have both said hard things, but the time for action has come. Let the warm hand of fraternity proclaim us brethren.

Rev. E. C. Gordon, from the Montgomery presbytery, said, that, surrounded by Presbyterian stalwartism, as were his people, they were, nevertheless, prepared for fraternity. He read from the records to show that southern Presbyterian bodies had made use of some He read from the records to show that souther Presbyterian bodies had made use of some strong language—one notable expression being that they had "taken the crown from the master's head and tied it to Cresar's chariot wheels." Both sides had something to forget wheels." Both sides had something to forget things, "forgive," said he, "forgive, forgive!" The past is not now the question with us—it is of the present. If we adopt a recital of grevances it will pain me, no matter how true it may be. Such a paper as the one before us will neversettle grievance—it will adgravate them. Fraternal relations would be gravate them.
